Bad River Outdoors "TAGGED OUT" Sight With built in "Quick Range" Rangefinder

Bad River Outdoors is the first company that I am aware of to jump on the bandwagon, bringing crossbow hunters fine fixed, fiber optic peep-sights for their crossbows. These sights, appropriately names "Tagged Out", are not only extremely tough, durable and serviceable, but they also have a built-in "Quick Range" rangefinder making it the most unique and practical crossbow sight on the market. The sight is designed for crossbows with speeds of 320 to 360 feet/second.

Each sight come with a new Glow-in-the Dark Finish and provides instant visual ranging up to fifty yards. Simply place the brackets on the deer and quickly determine how far away the animal is. The fiber optic sights give you a bright green dot at twenty, thirty, forty and fifty yards. The sights are weather proof performing perfectly in rain, fog and low light. Sights are currently available for Barnett, Darton, Excalibur and Ten-

Point models with more to come.

These great little sights work just as well on the 3-D range as they do in the bush. The indestructible Tagged Out sight comes with a 100% Lifetime Guarantee. I haven't been this excited over a new crossbow product in a long time and I truly believe that this is going to be one of the hottest things to hit the crossbow market in a long time! For more information about this unique addition to our crossbow equipment options, visit the Bad River Outdoors website at <http://www.badriveroutdoors.com>

Also, watch for a more in depth review of this product by Geoffrey Toye, our European Correspondent, in the next issue of HBM. Also, by that volume, I will have had the sight in the field in a hunting situation on my Barnett and Excalibur crossbows and will share with you exactly how it performs in actual hunting situations.
